Easter is not merely an event of long ago. It is not only the celebration of the divine desire to be at one with humankind. It is not only the renewal of the cosmos. Nor is it simply our kindled hope for what is promised us. Easter is also realized when we are most fully alive and aware of all that is. A former bishop of Romania has been quoted as saying, “If we only knew the truth of it we would know that each day is Easter.”

---Wendy M. Wright in The Rising

As I write this article, March Madness is gearing up for the sweet sixteen and beyond. The men's Division I NCAA Basketball tournament has not always been known this way, but since 2010-2011, March Madness is on the lips of many a basketball sports fan. It's big and dominates the airwaves, streaming and social media for about a month with forecasts, reporting, analysis, and oh yeah, the actual games. I love the NCAA basketball tournament -- though it's gotten way too commercial - and love to root for my favorite team(s). I even follow the Division III NCAA tournament, with another alma mater, Randolph-Macon, making it to the sweet sixteen this year before an excruciating one-point loss to eventual national runner-up Swarthmore. Once the tournaments are over, we congratulate the winners and even praise those who lost before the final (like UCF!). But, then we quickly move on. In fact, the very next day it's as if the champion is forgotten as prognosticators begin predicting which team will be number one next year. Though I enjoy the tournament, and bleed Duke Blue, being a basketball fan is just a tiny part of who I am, and little reflects my deepest beliefs and values.

There's another spring occasion that has been around for thousands of years that we also celebrate and prepare for. It directs our faith life from Ash Wednesday until the day of resurrection. As we celebrate Easter later this month I am reminded not only of what this “day” means to us as Christians, but that Easter is to become a part of us. In other words, Easter is not just a celebration, or simply a yearly occasion or event, but is an attitude, an outlook (or way of seeing) - a way of life. It is, for Christians, to reflect some of our deepest beliefs and values. As the former bishop of Romania proclaimed, if we only knew the truth of it we would know that each day is Easter.

Essential to such an attitude and way of life, of being an “Easter people,” is our ability to live in community. In the book Life Together, Dietrich Bonhoeffer describes his experience of Christian community while part of an underground seminary during the Nazi occupation of Germany. The manuscript begins with a passage from the Psalms: “Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for [God’s people] to dwell together in unity.” (Psalm 133: 1). He then goes on to describe the grace and joy that one receives from living in Christian community and gives practical advice on how life together in Christ can be sustained.

As we live out our church life in this Easter season and beyond, I am inspired by Bonhoeffer’s attention to the importance of community for passionate faith and life. Being in community can feed our souls, challenge our perspective and help keep our eyes and hearts focused on others and the needs of others. When we participate in the ministry and life of the church, or immerse ourselves in a vision for Zwingli’s future; when we pray together and celebrate communion or welcome others, it is by God’s grace – a grace that heals and nurtures us, and forms us into community. When we develop relationships with sister churches and reach out in ways to the community and world around us, we begin to see just how expansive God’s grace is, and how blessed we are to be a part of God’s unending Easter life.
As we journey toward Easter Sunday may each of us examine our hearts to discover how we can be a part of our life together, so that Easter becomes a part of us. And may we, as this community of faith, continue to celebrate and follow in the way of the risen Christ throughout our days as we worship, pray, fellowship, learn and serve.

Peace,

Pastor Butch

EASTER EGG HUNT

On April 13th we'll be holding our annual Easter Egg Hunt! This event is designed for children through fifth grade and will include crafts, a small scavenger hunt and of course, the egg hunt! We will also have a visit from the Easter Bunny, so don't forget your cameras! There will be time after the egg hunt to have your picture taken with the Easter Bunny! The event kicks off at 10 am. We hope to see you there!

LOOKING FOR EGG HUNT VOLUNTEERS

The Educators are looking for volunteers to help with Zwingli's Annual Easter Egg Hunt. This year the egg hunt will be held on Saturday, April 13. We're in need of egg hiders as well as folks to help at activity stations and to lead groups out to the egg hunt areas. For more information, please see one of the Educators: Nikki Bechtel, Monica Jalboot, Erin Chalmers or Jen Smeed. You can sign up on the Christian Education bulletin board. Thank you!

We are deeply grateful for the various opportunities to widen our own sense of worship and to experience the ecumenical cooperation with our neighbors and friends at Emmanuel Lutheran and Trinity UCC.

Our lives are busy and consistent and attendance at mid-week services can be challenging. However, as Lent draws to a close and we anticipate Easter, please make every effort to join us for these special services. Let us come together as a people of God and experience all that Lent offers.

Healthy Moment
Hypertension: The Silent Killer
By Kristie Lowery, Faith Community Nurse

“19 Do you not know that your bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own; 20 you were bought at a price. Therefore, honor God with your bodies.” 1 Corinthians 6:19-20

I am not one to broadcast my personal medical issues, but I had an experience this past fall that was a critical eye opener and significant enough that I feel compelled to share it in the hopes that someone can avoid a similar experience. I have been taking medication for hypertension for many years. However, when I became a Medicare appropriate age, the powers to be decided that my medication was not one they wished to cover under my healthcare coverage. I had a discussion with my physician to switch to a medication that would be approved. And so, with my new prescription in hand, I obtained the new medication and incorporated the new drug into my daily routine of taking medications. In the past, as long, as I was taking medication, my blood pressures were in a normal range and I felt good. With the medication change, I continued to feel good and went along with my life, without considering there were any problems. In the fall, I participated in a day bus trip. The entire day, I was not feeling good; having a headache, slight nausea, as well as dizzy and light headed. As soon as I returned home that evening, I took my blood pressure and noted that it was 220/140!! Needless to say, I got myself to a doctor mighty quick! Adjustments were made to my medication list, and I am happy to report that my blood pressures are back to normal. They say that hypertension is a silent killer and this experience confirmed that! If I had not acted promptly, I could have had a massive stroke, heart attack or even death.

Blood pressure (BP) is the force of blood against your artery walls as it circulates through your body. The BP can rise and fall throughout the day, but it can cause health problems if it stays high for a long time. One in three American adults have high blood pressure. Factors that influence your risk for high BP include age, gender, race or ethnicity.

High BP usually has no warning signs or symptoms, so many people do not realize they have it. It is important to visit your doctor regularly. Discuss with your physician your risk factors, and appropriate treatment to maintain your BP at a normal range.

Recommendations to decrease risks for high blood pressure:
- Get your blood pressure checked regularly.
- Eat a healthy diet.
- Maintain a healthy weight.
- Be physically active.
- Limit alcohol use
- Don’t smoke.
- Prevent or manage diabetes.

Don’t wait for symptoms to determine if you have a blood pressure problem, as you may wait too long! Be proactive and vigilant about monitoring your health and risk factors.

FAITHFUL STEWARDS: FIDUCIARY OF GOD’S BLESSINGS

If you read annual reports from publicly held companies or banks, you will frequently see the word “fiduciary.” Fiduciary is used as an adjective to describe something which is held in trust. It is also used as a noun to describe the one who is a trustee who must account for that which is held in trust.

For example, a bank president has a fiduciary responsibility to stockholders in the bank and to depositors who place their money in the bank. A company treasurer has a fiduciary responsibility to the owners of the company. A payroll clerk has a fiduciary responsibility to pay people what they have earned.

You may never have considered yourself a fiduciary, and you may never have acted officially in a fiduciary capacity, but in reality, you are one. All of us are a fiduciary of all that God has entrusted to us. God blesses us in many ways, and in return, we provide our time, talents, and treasures to serve the Lord. If we were to sit down and have a discussion with God about our fiduciary responsibilities for God’s blessings, how would we account for how we have used what God has entrusted to us?
Just as a bank president must account to stockholders and depositors on how their funds are used, we must account to Christ for how we have used what has been entrusted to us. Since everything we have rightfully belongs to God, we will need to periodically review how we have managed the Lord’s resources.

Consider how you have used what God has entrusted to your care and keeping during the past few months. As a “fiduciary” of what God has placed in your hands, what will be your report on your giving and management of God’s assets?

We invite you to come and participate as we strive to increase our diversity awareness and understanding on this topic.

April 21
Have a blessed Easter! No class today.

April 28
MCC Material Resources
Our way of looking at Earth Day this year is to invite Tom Oelschlager of MCC Material who will share with us how they use recycling to finance their health and clean up kits that are used wherever there is a need. Won’t you join us and hear and learn more about his organization that is here in the area.

Bible Study will meet jointly with the Adult Electives Class in the Parlor.
Our LYFT class continues to focus on ways to raise spiritually healthy children. We will be enjoying the Easter Egg Hunt together on April 13 and planning another fellowship event for early May.

SAVE THE DATE

May 19th is going to be a busy day at Zwingli: Music Sunday, Teacher Appreciation, Prayer Bench Dedication AND Intergenerational Sunday School. Our Intergenerational Sunday School will be a working "class" where we focus on Ecclesiastes 4:9 “Two people are better than one, because they get more done by working together.” During the Sunday School hour we will help the Trustees take care of our building and property, so let’s make it a dress-down day. There will be different jobs for people of all abilities and interests. Keep an eye on the announcements and May mailing for more details.

YOUTH GROUP LEADERSHIP HELP NEEDED

Want to be involved with a great group of youth from our congregation? Monica is looking for someone interested in helping to plan and run one or two of the events that have been a big hit with our youth in the past: The Service Scavenger Hunt and / or 30 Hour Famine. If you are interested, give Monica a call for more information. (267-664-2713 or thejalboots@gmail.com)

VACATION BIBLE CAMP IS GROWING - TO MARS AND BEYOND!

July 29th - August 2nd (9am - noon) will be one small step for all involved with VBC...one giant leap for God’s Kingdom through Cokesbury’s “To Mars and Beyond.” This is an interactive week where children (aged 3 and toilet trained through entering grade 5) will learn 5 different Bible Stories through art, science, music, games, Bible time, and snacks. All of the stories show how we should give “Glory to God who is able to do far beyond all that we could ask or imagine by His power at work within us!” - Ephesians 3:20

The theme of “giving glory to God who is able to do far beyond all that we could ask or imagine by His power at work within us” is perfect, because this year, VBC is moving to be a Community VBC where all of the following churches will be involved: Emmanuel LC, Grace UMC, Little Zion LC, St. Paul’s LC, Trinity UCC & Zwingli UCC.
Please prayerfully consider how you can help. We have very important roles during the week of VBC of leading one of our Space Stations (i.e., art, science, Bible story etc.) and being a Space Guide (getting campers safely from Space Station A to Space Station B and helping them in those locations). We are also in need of folks to help with rearranging Zwingli’s space, decorating, preparing arts & crafts ahead of time, and returning Zwingli to its original layout when the week is over. Additional volunteers will be needed from ALL churches involved. Reach out to Monica with any questions and let her know how you see yourself participating in this space adventure. (267-664-2713 or thejalboots@gmail.com). Through God’s power at work within us, we will be able to have an awesome and astronomical event.

WE STILL HAVE SOME OPENINGS!
