Discernment is about the “spiritual interpretation and evaluation of feelings, and particularly with the direction in which we are moved by them.”

-David Lonsdale, S.J., Eyes to See, Ears to Hear

Discernment is “decision-making by a loving heart.”

-David Fleming, S.J.

Beginning a new year is often full of promises and resolutions for some. Others are happy to make it to another year and curious about how it may unfold. A new decade may invite more reflection about changes, hopes and dreams for the years to come. As a new year unfolds and a new decade is before us at Zwingli, it is a good time to reflect on ministry we have been privileged to a part of as well as look forward to what God may be calling us to be and do. Hopefully, you will read the 2019 Year End report that conveys just a part of the work, ministry, fellowship, worship and service that we have enjoyed. We’ve been active in much the same way each year for the last decade.

It’s hard to believe that it was May 2010 when we broke ground and commenced rebuilding after the fire. I remember that anxious and exhilarating time when we were uncertain what was to come, yet were grounded in our belief that “the building is gone, but the ministry goes on.” Though we have been back in the church building for over eight years, we still embrace that spirit of commitment to what God has in store. Each step of the way we have done our best to discern God’s direction for Zwingli and hope we have been faithful to God’s desires as well as the longings of our hearts.

2020 will be a critical year in the life of our church since it will be a year of considerable transition and discernment. We will renew our search for an Associate pastor (full-time!) and begin one for a new music director, looking to add new staff before the end of the year. Zwingli will move into deeper discernment around a decision to be an Open and Affirming church*. The leadership of Zwingli will also give attention to items from our 2020 Vision and Implementation plans that have not been accomplished, and have already begun discussions about ministry hopes and dreams for 2021-2025. This is indeed an exciting time! It’s also a time for all of us to focus more deeply on prayer, communicating well, discussing and discerning together and trusting in God.

St. Ignatius is known for developing a way of discernment that could be used by individuals, churches or his own order (the Jesuits). It’s a method too long to describe here, but it is intricately tied to faith and being attentive to the Spirit. It’s also a decision-making process best accomplished by loving hearts. Though we may not use St. Ignatius’ instructions for what we need to discern (or maybe we will!), his insights are valuable for us as we move into this new year. So, may we focus on the way we can walk together in faith, with loving hearts, attentive minds, and souls deeply rooted in our relationship with God and one another.

Peace,
Butch

*If you are unsure what Open and Affirming means, please see the 2019 Year End report, articles in the mailing over the last year, or the bulletin board/information center in the atrium.

This tasty treat doubles as a game to play with a buddy.

What you need:
- Graham crackers
- Chocolate chips
- Microwave-safe bowl
- Zippered baggie
- Scissors
- Raspberries
- Blueberries

What you do:
1. Gently break cracker sheets in half to form squares.

ANOTHER VERY SUCCESSFUL MLK DAY OF SERVICE AND WORSHIP

Zwingli was a busy place the afternoon of Jan 19th as nearly 200 participants gathered to take part in an afternoon of service. Hundreds of individuals in our community and beyond will benefit from the work that was done on 17 different projects ranging from Thank You baskets/banners for area First Responders and beautiful placemats for area nursing home residents to creating mats for the homeless and quilts that may be sent to far away places. We created soup for The Table of Plenty and assembled jars of soup ingredients and hygiene kits for local families in need. We concluded with meaningful worship that reminded us of Martin Luther King Jr's message of inclusion and justice for all, fought for peacefully in our daily actions of compassion and caring. A more detailed accounting of items and numbers will be reported in the near future. A YouTube video has been posted.

We thank the following Zwingli members for having served on the various Ministries and Church Council. Their work has been greatly appreciated and they will be missed!

ASSOCIATE PASTOR SEARCH

Now that the congregation has approved a full-time Associate Position (at our December congregational meeting), the Elders, Search Committee and Pastor Butch will be hard at work making tweaks if necessary to our profile, making sure the position description is accurate, and reposting the position through the Conference at the "UCC Ministry Opportunities" tab on the national churches' web site (ucc.org). Please keep all those involved in prayer, including potential candidates!
WALKING THE LABYRINTH

Labyrinths were used in Christian spiritual practice as early as the 4th century, flourishing in Europe in the 11th and 12th centuries. The labyrinth offers a chance for a spiritual journey, inviting the walker into sacred space and deep connection to God. Unlike a maze, which is designed to trick and confuse, the labyrinth is a single path into its center (and out again), encouraging a pilgrimage of discovery about God and our interior life. In short, the labyrinth is a path for prayer and meditation, a way to deepen our faith.

A portable labyrinth will be available for anyone who wishes to use it from January 27 (morning) through January 31 (evening), AND possibly through the morning of February 2nd (depending on events in the Family Life Center). Instructions will be available for those new to this prayer practice.

GREETERS NEEDED FOR LENTEN SERVICES

Dates for greeting include:

March 4, 2020
March 11, 2020
March 18, 2020

The Facts About Carpal Tunnel Syndrome
Kristie Lowery, Faith Congregation Nurse

"Heal me, LORD, and I will be healed; save me and I will be saved, for you are the one I praise. Jeremiah 17:14

What is carpal tunnel syndrome?
Carpal tunnel syndrome (CTS) occurs when the median nerve, which runs from the forearm into the palm of the hand, becomes pressed or squeezed at the wrist. The carpal tunnel—a narrow, rigid passageway of ligament and bones at the base of the hand—houses the median nerve and the tendons that bend the fingers. The median nerve provides feeling to the palm side of the thumb and to the index, middle, and part of the ring fingers (although not the little finger). It also controls some small muscles at the base of the thumb. Sometimes, thickening from the lining of irritated tendons or other swelling narrows the tunnel and causes the median nerve to be compressed. The result may be numbness, weakness, or sometimes pain in the hand and wrist, or occasionally in the forearm and arm.

What are the symptoms of carpal tunnel syndrome?
Symptoms usually start gradually, with frequent burning, tingling, or itching numbness in the palm of the hand and the fingers, especially the thumb and the index and middle fingers. Some carpal tunnel sufferers say their fingers feel useless and swollen, even though little or no swelling is apparent. The symptoms often first appear in one or both hands during the night, since many people sleep with flexed wrists. A person with carpal tunnel syndrome may wake up feeling the need to "shake out" the hand or wrist. As symptoms worsen, people might feel tingling during the day. Decreased grip strength may make it difficult to form a fist, grasp small objects, or perform other manual tasks. In chronic and/or untreated cases, the muscles at the base of the thumb may waste away. Some people are unable to tell between hot and cold by touch.

What are the causes of carpal tunnel syndrome?
Carpal tunnel syndrome is often the result of a combination of factors that reduce the available space for the median nerve within the carpal tunnel, rather than a problem with the nerve itself. Contributing factors include trauma or injury to the wrist that cause swelling, such as sprain or fracture; an overactive pituitary gland; an underactive thyroid gland; and rheumatoid arthritis. Mechanical problems in the wrist joint, work stress, repeated use of vibrating hand tools, fluid retention during pregnancy or menopause, or the development of a cyst or tumor in the canal also may contribute to the compression. Often, no single cause can be identified.

Who is at risk of developing carpal tunnel syndrome?
Women are three times more likely than men to develop carpal tunnel syndrome, perhaps because the carpal tunnel itself may be smaller in women than in men. The dominant hand is usually affected first and produces the most severe pain. Persons with diabetes or other metabolic disorders that directly affect the body's nerves and make them more susceptible to compression are also at high risk. Carpal tunnel syndrome usually occurs only in adults. The risk of developing carpal tunnel syndrome is not confined to people in a single industry or job, but is especially common in those performing assembly line work - manufacturing, sewing, finishing, cleaning, and meat, poultry, or fish packing. In fact, carpal tunnel syndrome is three times more common among assemblers than among data-entry personnel.

How is carpal tunnel syndrome diagnosed?
Early diagnosis and treatment are important to avoid permanent damage to the median nerve. A medical history and physical examination of the hands, arms, shoulders, and neck can help determine if the person's discomfort is related to daily activities or to an underlying disorder, and can rule out other conditions that cause similar symptoms. Routine laboratory tests and X-rays can reveal fractures, arthritis, and detect diseases that can damage the nerves, such as diabetes. Electrodiagnostic tests may help confirm the diagnosis of CTS. Ultrasound imaging can show abnormal size of the median nerve.

How is carpal tunnel syndrome treated?
Treatments for carpal tunnel syndrome should begin as early as possible, under a doctor's direction. Non-surgical treatments are usually utilized to ease discomfort. These treatments include wearing a wrist splint at night while sleeping. Patients are advised to avoid daytime activities that may provoke symptoms. Some people with discomfort may wish to take frequent breaks from tasks, to rest the hand. If the wrist is red, warm and swollen, applying cool packs can help. Over-the-counter drugs can ease the pain and swelling associated with carpal tunnel syndrome.

Surgery is recommended when conservative measures are not helping to relieve the symptoms and discomfort is progressing. Surgery involves severing a ligament around the wrist to reduce pressure on the median nerve and is usually done under local or regional anesthesia (involving some sedation) and does not require an overnight hospital stay. Many people require surgery on both hands.

How can carpal tunnel syndrome be prevented?
At the workplace, workers can do on-the-job conditioning, perform stretching exercises, take frequent rest breaks, and ensure correct posture and wrist position. Wearing fingerless gloves can help keep hands warm and flexible. Workstations, tools and tool handles, and tasks can be redesigned to enable the worker's wrist to maintain a natural position during work.

Today LGBTQ issues are discussed in almost every social forum. However, the language and concepts used by the scientific and LGBTQ communities evolved over the years and it can be hard to keep up with current usages. One of the goals of this seminar is to strengthen attendees’ understanding of gender (identity/expression), sex (biology), and sexuality (attraction)—three distinct aspects of human development that are often misunderstood or used interchangeably. The presenters of this workshop (James Mast, a Licensed Professional Counselor from Penn Foundation and Jane Mast, the Chair of the Dock Mennonite Academy Science Department) strive to highlight the importance of talking about and understanding LGBTQ issues within a Christian context. This session is meant to raise attendees’ awareness of the complicated nature of gender, sex, and sexuality. The session is also meant to help leaders in the Christian community be better equipped to respond to questions about sex, gender, and sexuality.

Please sign up on the ONA bulletin board in the atrium by February 19 so we prepare enough lunch.

WE BLEED LOCAL

Miller-Keystone has begun a new program to hopefully increase giving. They realize that sometimes the date of the drive that people normally participate in is not possible due to illness, vacation, or some other reason. Thus they wait until the organization conducts another drive. We Bleed Local provides you with a key-card which allows you to donate at any Miller-Keystone drive and have your donation counted back to your own organization. Simply present the card when you register, they will swipe it, and your donation will be credited to Zwingli. So you can give at work, a relative or friend’s church, or any Miller-Keystone drive and Zwingli will receive the credit. These cards are available on the Missioners table. Take one for you, a relative, and a friend. They are not limited to only Zwingli members.
